The special English camp!!?

If you want to learn English and enjoy your summer holidays, you should attend the "Discovery Summer Camp 2012". That is what I did in July this year anyway, together with 50 other students from all over Germany.

Engels even picked six participants: Alexej Zwinger, Wioletta Pielczyk, Vivien Winter, Kevin Engel, Madina Diallo and me – Haytham Abdolfatah.

The teamers were a mixture of students of the Bucerius Law School and Teach First Deutschland fellows – and they all volunteered to be at the camp!

I talked to Dumitru (participant) and Viviana (volunteer), here are two impressions of them:

Dumitru: "I think that the Discovery Summer Camp is very nice and I would like to do this again and again. The workshops are very interesting and I can learn lots of things here. The volunteers are very helpful and the whole camp is very well organised. And I think, Hamburg is a great city!"

The Discovery Summer Camp started on July 22, 2012 and ended on July 27, 2012. The amazing thing was that it took place at the Bucerius Law School in Hamburg, a very beautiful university. Throughout the camp we had various English workshops (media, business and environment) and we visited Hamburg – I really enjoyed the boat trip in the harbour of Hamburg for example. Other students were very excited about the musical "Sister Act" ...

The participants were chosen by their English teachers (or Teach First Deutschland fellows). From our school Mrs

And Viviana said: "I like this camp because it is a very good chance to meet friends and to teach English. It is a lot of work to organize such a camp, but in the end it is perfect. I hope that the participants will go back home after this week with an extra portion motivation!"

As a result of the camp, the participants improved their English, spent a beautiful week of their summer holidays in Hamburg, met new friends and learned a lot about Hamburg. So, my question is: Is there going to be another Discovery Summer Camp next year? And: Are you going to be part of it?
