

Have you ever learned English in your holidays?

Discovery Summer Camp

Mazlum Aksu

Discovery Summer Camp is an English camp, organised by Teach first. It is in Hamburg at the Bucerius Law School. It is from 22.07. -27.07.2012. Different pupils come from different cities to improve their English with workshops, excursions and free time activities.

To the Discovery Summer Camp come 39 participants from different cities with great motivation. All of them chose one workshop. The workshops are media, environment and business. So they can improve their English with good studies at the Bucerius Law School. They also make different free time activities and excursions for example the boat trip. Burak Kocagöl from Gelsenkirchen says in an interview: " I am here to have good time, to meet new peoples from different countries and to speak English. I like the activities but I hate walk to long. The best activity was the boat trip because it shows the city from the water. In my free time activities I like to sit and watch the other participants if they plays. The camp is very good I like all teamers and also I like all the participants. And I am happy that I am here." Teamer Anian say:" I am here because I like to work with young people and it is the best way to spend my holiday. The boat trip was very amazing. And in the free time activities I like to play soccer and frezbee. In the camp is a great atmosphere with fantastic people and it is a fantastic place."

So the participants and the teamer have a very beautiful holiday together because they learn and also they enjoy it with different activities with a fantastic weather. This camp has motivated many participants for future and also they can take contact with different peoples.
